

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

By Breathing Into Throat, Nose and Lungs Pure Antiseptic Air.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it, you must kill the germs which cause the disease.

The best known way of destroying catarrh germs is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat and lungs the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomel (pronounced High-o-mel). Hyomel is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which Lee & Cogswell, other leading druggists in Norwich and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you draw the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomel through this little device, you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ laden membranes a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists all over the world are selling catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use.

most at the bottom of the list, the six New England states possessing the following territory: Maine, 33,040 square miles; Vermont, 9,565; New Hampshire, 9,365; Massachusetts, 8,315; Connecticut, 4,990; and Rhode Island, 1,260. In point of population Connecticut comes second, thus: Massachusetts, 3,386,416; Connecticut, 1,147,766; Maine, 742,371; Rhode Island, 482,810; New Hampshire, 420,572; and Vermont, 255,956. If, for the sake of comparison, one imagines the populations to be spread evenly over the respective territories, Connecticut would stand third in point of density, having a population for each square mile of area as indicated, viz.: Connecticut, 233; New Hampshire, 46; Vermont, 27; Maine 22.

By comparing the street railway equipment figures with those of area and population, some very illuminating results are obtained. For instance, if one could imagine all the existing tracks in each state, stretched in single parallel lines across the state, the number of square miles of territory which could be served by each mile of track would be as follows: in Massachusetts 2.6; in Rhode Island, 3.5; in Connecticut 4.3; in New Hampshire 32.9; in Maine 58.8; and in Vermont 72.8. Assuming that the population is evenly spread over the territories, for each mile of trolley track there would be people to be served as follows: in Massachusetts 1,075; in New Hampshire 1,527; in Rhode Island 1,546; in Maine 2,698; and in Vermont 3,985. It appears here that the accommodations in summer, based solely on open cars and semi-convertibles, are far better than in winter, with the exception of Rhode Island and Vermont. Here again, however, it should be recalled that some lines are closed altogether, and that in reality the summer crowds are adequately handled everywhere.

In recapitulation, then, it appears that Connecticut in area next to the smallest of the New England states, and in population next to the largest, stands second in point of trolley track per car, third in area per mile of track, and first in amount of track per unit of population, and while in modern times the trolley stock of the state is being replaced by more modern cars, already in service within her confines, and plans already in existence will shortly place her very much in the running in that respect.

While Connecticut has as yet few up to the minute cars, tentative plans were in the offices of the Connecticut Co. at the time of the big New Haven dissolution two years ago, plans calling for semi-convertible cars of the newest design. The reorganization has now so far progressed that these plans have been again taken up with the result that within the last few weeks bids have been asked for on a lot of 92 cars most of which it is expected will be ready to put in service by fall. These cars are to be similar to the splendid cars of the Waterbury and Middletown Tramway Co., previously referred to, which represent the latest in the car builders' art, cars of the semi-convertible variety, with the much lauded round roof. The cars are to be built by the Connecticut Car, Field and Worcester, the pre-payment cars, are round roofed semi-convertibles.

Reverting to the statistical strain with which this article started out: while in area, Connecticut stands al-
